*We hail thee, Alma Mater, dear,
As now we sing thy praise,
O let thy walls and storied halls
Resound with endless praise.*

Chorus—

*We love thy sons so noble,
Thy daughters fair and true,
We love thee ever, old E. C.,
And thy colors Gray and Blue.*

*The strong and fair alike do share
The labours of thy hand;
Together they proclaim alway,
Thy glory through the land.*

*As long as breezes 'round thee blow
And countless ages roll,
May heaven's blessings on thee rest,
While we thy name extol.*

PRESIDENT'S ETONIAN HOMILY

Here you are at last with the coveted sheep skin in the offing! What a train of memories flashes into your minds as you meditate upon hall, class-room, and campus! How vivid is the recollection of that first meal in the dining hall, that first attempt to master all knowledge, that first chapel talk, that shadowy memory of a gymnasium in embryo, and that soothing peal of the retiring bell! What a music, what a reverie all these scenes on College Hill call forth!

You will have many joyous days before you, but some of your best days are now history and the source of happy reminiscences. It was on College Hill that you formed some of your most lasting friendships; it was here that you caught a vision of a life task; it was in the class-room that you entered the palace of the beautiful in art, literature, and music; it was there that you marvelled at the greatness of God in the behavior of chemical elements, in the motions of the planets in the heavens, and in the organization of plants and animals; it was in the gymnasium that you first caught the real spirit of team work and self control; it was on the chapel rostrum that you gained confidence in expressing yourself to others; and it was within the sacred walls of your Alma Mater that some of you dedicated your lives to Jesus Christ as your Savior.

As you approach your respective tasks it is our earnest desire to see you honorably performing your duties and thus rendering a worthy contribution to humanity. To do this you will need an impelling force in your lives, and of all the aids to a worth-while life there is none like faith. You will never be able to realize your latent possibilities unless you have a firm conviction that life is eternally important. Just as you are partly fashioned by all the influences brought to bear upon your life, so you will leave an impress upon humanity wherever you go. The pebble thrown into the pond affects all the water in it and sets waves in motion that touch the farthest borders. Life similarly touches life and sets in motion currents that determine destinies. For your own sake and for that of others it does matter how you live.

You should further realize that work creditably performed is the consummation of a design in the mind of the Creator himself. For each life there is some work to do; for each worthy deed there is a harmony in the symphony of the universe. Your training during the past four years has been an attempt at assisting you in believing that life is fraught with great issues and boundless possibilities, and it shall bring us great joy to see each one of you doing your respective work well.

Our anticipation for you as you face sterner realities are not manifestly disturbed by fears. We know that your aspirations are high, your purposes noble, your wills indomitable, and your faith strong. With these traits dominating your lives you will succeed. When your efforts meet the hearty approval of your fellow men we shall rejoice with you; when you pass through the difficult places of life we shall sympathetically follow you and try to strengthen you; and should you fail for any reason, we shall love you still and hold out a helping hand.

L' ENVOI

Is your place a small place?
Tend it with care!
He set you there,
Is your place a large place?
Guard it with care!
He set you there.
Whatever your place, it is
Not yours alone, but His
Who set you there.

In the fall of 1927 fifty eager Freshman enrolled in Elizabethtown College, anxiously looking forward to the new experiences before them. Under the direction of Professor H. H. Nye, our class advisor, we organized on September 27, 1927, choosing Benjamin Hoffman as President of the Freshman Class. As our motto we chose "No Victory Without Labor."

The next important event in the Freshman annals was the victory over the Sophomores in a tug-of-war at Lake Placida. In the Basketball season the girls were undefeated and the boys stood very near the top. Not only in athletics but in library and musical circles, as well, the Freshman class distinguished itself.

Thirty of our members returned for the Sophomore year, a little older and wiser for the trials and successes of the Freshman year. Carl Zeigler was chosen as leader for our second year of College life. Various committees were appointed for social, literary, and athletic activities. The social committee very successfully arranged for a banquet February 19, at Hershey Inn. The snowy night could not dampen the spirits of the happy banqueters. In the major sports the Sophomores held their own and the glory of the Freshman year was not dimmed but rather increased. The social activities of the year culminated in a good time at Penryn Park May 24. Already we were looking forward to the privileges and responsibilities of the Junior year—Carl Zeigler was chosen as Editor-in-Chief of the Etonian work and Trostle Crouthamel was chosen as Business Manager.

In the fall of 1929 eighteen jolly, yet very serious minded, juniors returned to join the task of publishing a bigger and better Etonian. Everyone worked to the best of his ability for the accomplishment of this worth while project. The 1931 Etonian was successful not only as a literary accomplishment but also as a business enterprise, for the treasure of the class was richer by two hundred eighty six dollars after all had been said and done. Clyde Deiter was the able leader of our Junior activities. Social affairs were not neglected during this busy year for a very unusually successful social affair was held on a moonlight night as we hiked the snowy roads around Elizabethtown. In May the Juniors entertained the Senior class at the Inn at Indian Echo Cave.

The Senior year began very auspiciously with many of the old members back and quite a few new friends in our midst. Mr. Deiter was chosen as leader of our class on the last round of its eventful journey. We immediately began to plan for the many activities of the Senior year. Arrangements for the class play, Senior trip, and commencement activities were discussed. Socially the class was not inactive for January 7, Amos Hummer memorably entertained the members of the Senior class at his home in Elizabethtown. We have enjoyed the year on College Hill and each Senior looks back with pleasure to all that has happened there.

CLASSMATES OF '31

*As drops of water meet and blend in sparkling pools,
Then part, so we. Our lives for so few years are met
And having joined, we part, and leave these schools,
Perhaps we shall not meet again. We part, and yet
Each carries something learned, remembers something shared.
It is not wisdom, joy, or friendship we forget.
Nor love; these priceless fruits of life enriched
With us shall linger on when youth and schools have passed.*

The year 1928 in its rapid pace toward its inevitable end, was halted in its progress on a bright September day to pay tribute to a group of seventy-two energetic young people as they advanced into a great chimera by enrolling at Elizabethtown College.

Through various sources, we were able to orientate ourselves for the inception of this great undertaking. Some of the opportunities materialized, while others were thought useless and were repelled in spite of objections offered by the Sophomore class. With the aid of a Junior-Senior tribunal, which left vivid impressions upon a few privileged characters, the Sophomores finally compelled us to succumb to a number of Freshmen regulations. This was a feat of charity on the part of the Sophomores to the faculty in helping them to make us malleable in order that their moulding process might begin.

Clearly and pleasantly do we recall many memories of College Hill. Among them was our success in defeating the Sophomores in the annual tug-of-war, and in so doing, we set the yearling beauties on a parity with their more experienced superiors in a mad rush to secure that highly relished "food" of the Arab. Scholastically, we were out to be subjected, and socially, we showed considerable progress.

As we entered our Sophomore year, we continually raised the standards which we had upheld during our Freshman year. By defeating the yearlings in the tug-of-war, we broke all previous records. Socially, the Roller Skating Party at Mt. Gretna was introduced (now a popular type of party on the hill), by us. At the close of this year, many answered the roll-call of the Sophomore pedagogue, however, twenty-seven enrolled for the Junior year.

Our College career continued until it placed us in a glowing season of opportunities for exercising our ability in publishing the 1932 edition of the Etonian. Many interests, both social and academic, have claimed our attentions. The unique "Hobo-Taffey-Pull" in Shonk's garage and the final Junior-Senior party afforded interesting and excellent opportunities for fellowship and association during our junior year.

As we gradually approach the exodus from our College life, we are not negligent in entertaining visions of realities that will confront us as we step into a different play, on a different setting. We are, thus, endeavoring to put forth our best efforts in order that we may qualify favorably as one of the personnel in that great drama.

THE JUNIORS

With musical laughter, occasional shouts,
And the thub of impatient feet
Behold the class of thirty-two
Passes by in review.

The first to pass is Butch
Our very able president.
Floy our charming secretary
And then comes Bill our treasurer.

There are comedians three:
Caleb, Dick and Diehl,
Who with their jokes are free
Whenever grief itself reveals.

Ray who enlightens the class
Whenever such is needed.
And surely one cannot forget
Vance, Bob and Barbour.

Among the athletes are
Fisher the sturdy gridsman.
Jimmy the dribbler
And Kaylor of the courts.

Now among the fair co-eds you'll find
Helen, Nancy and Peggy's three
Frances, VanOrmar, Ginny, Mae and Ann.

Oh! yes we can't forget our preachers
Smoker, Bucher and Miller.
And last but not least are
Shonk and Shearer.

The advisor of this group
Is a man of priceless worth.
Behold he comes with a steady pace
Inspiring us to a greater place
Professor A. C. Baugher.

ANN CASSEL

MILLER BARBOUR
Middletown, Pa.

CALEB W. BUCHER
Quarryville, Pa.

In the "trio from Middletown" we think Barbour the leader. For usually Houser, Rank, and Barbour are together and Barbour is the instigator. Ever since our Freshman year, his drollness, his alert mind, his tolerance, his affableness have made him liked on College Hill. In his Freshman year he went out for debating and was voted a member of the team. His logical and clever thinking, combined with his wit, made him successful.

In his Sophomore year, we think English Literature was his main vocation or avocation. We have even known him to compose verses on Lord Byron. He claims to have read every piece of literature in the history of English Literature, at least it seemed that amount. Get into a conversation on literature sometime with Barbour and see how long it will last.

The stage has a big appeal for him and it is our guess that he would be a successful actor. Because he is a day-student he takes work but three times a week this year, we see very little of Barbour outside of class. Whatever he may do we are certain that his personality will bring him hosts of friends and we know that in his field he will be a success. That is our wish.

Activities: Etonian Staff; Class Basketball (2) (3); Debating (1).

Just to know that Caleb is around or in a group is satisfying. The "Bucher wit" and kindness to one and all is amazing. This fact alone would make him very popular, but there is much more than wit and clever retort in Caleb. After working for a standard certificate at Elizabethtown College, he taught for several years in the vicinity of Quarryville. If we are able to judge from reports given of his school, we know he was a huge success. In fact, we were dubious whether the school-board would let him return to complete his college work. Needless to say, we are very much pleased to have him join the Juniors. In summer vacations he enjoyed the privilege of working in a camp in New York State; this past summer he took part in directing the work there.

Caleb's interests are varied. He is an industrious, efficient, systematic thinker as well as a worker. A few years ago he was ordained a minister in the Church of the Brethren. With his fine Christian background and character, his aspirations and high ideals, his search for Truth and Beauty, we think he will be able to enjoy much of the "Sweetness and Light" about which Carlyle writes.

Activities: Etonian Staff; Men's Glee Club (3); Candles (3); Debating (3); President of Student Volunteers; Sock and Buskin.

K. EZRA BUCHER

R. F. D. 2, Myerstown, Pa.

ANNA K. CASSEL

Fairview Village, Pa.

This staunch representative of Lebanon County came to Elizabethtown College in his freshman year and intends to finish his Commercial course here. We think fate very kind to have directed him to this school because of the many services he rendered to E. C. In him we find a gentleman with a head for business.

"Butch" is one of those "big shots" you read about on college campuses; courteous and affable to everyone. The Junior class is convinced that their confidence was not misplaced in electing him president of our class. For he is as busy as a New York lawyer, but never too busy to hear a petition or request from classmates. This only portrays another desirable trait of an individual—patience.

In athletics we find him a number one participant. He ranks very high on the reserve team. Not only does he play basketball, but he is able to write up news articles for our College Times. He is nothing less than Sport's Editor.

With all these activities and striking personal appearance it is evident that he is not far removed from the fairer sex. Butch however believes it is better to know only one person intimately. The class expresses their sincere appreciation for your services and wishes you the best in this old world.

Activities: College Times Staff (1) (2) (3); Junior Varsity (1) (2) (3); Glee Club (2) (3); Candles (2) (3); Sophomore Class Vice-President; Junior Class President; Assistant Manager of Athletics (2) (3); Advertising Manager of Etonian.

Always be smiling, always be ready for fun, always be happy is the theme song of Anna. When she approaches you with a smile, you just know that she has had a good laugh on someone, or is about to spring a joke on someone else. Bubbling over with vivacity, an official blues-chaser is she. When the two trustee representatives meet, Caleb and Anna, we are all prepared for a battle of witticisms. She not only excels in mental and social conflicts, but physical as well for Anna has put her vigor, and vitality to use on the basketball floor.

However, carefree and lively she may be, we know Anna to be quite serious and mature. She entered E. C. in '27, and after having taught for several years, she returned to finish the required work for an A.B. with the class of '32. We know that upon graduation Anna will be well qualified and highly recommended to continue work in her profession.

Social functions of various kinds seem to interest and benefit Anna. In her jolly foursome, she is a ring-leader. With her originality, her personality, and her loquaciousness, the class of '32 need only to extend its heartiest wishes to boost her on in life's work.

Activities: Basketball (1) (2) (3); Chorus (1); Etonian Staff.

The 1932 Etonian

NORMAN E. DIEHL
Shrewsbury, Pa.

NANCY H. GISH
Elizabethtown, Pa.

This tall, good looking, refined gentleman entered the class of '32 in his Junior year. Previous to this time, he took work at Elizabethtown College in summer and spring normal sessions. He also spent one summer at Indiana State Normal School. Having his certificate, he trained the children of the rural schools for several years. Upon graduation from college he intends to continue in the teaching profession.

In the short time we have learned to know Diehl, we are glad to say that his association and cooperation with the Junior class has been a pleasure. His musical talent is not to be underestimated, for he is a member of the Glee Club and also the second tenor in the College Male Quartet. To further use his musical ability he has been chosen head cheer-leader of the school. At all athletic meets you will see him out leading college songs and cheers; he, too, is a member of the cheer-leading squad.

His courtesy, kindness, voluntary attitude and loyalty to this class and school make us certain that he will receive the best in life.

Activities: Quartet (3); Glee Club (3); Cheer-leader (3); Candles (3).

In presenting Nan, one immediately notices her dignified and aristocratic features. Though reticent, her geniality has developed greatly so as to make many friends of both sexes. In fact, we think Cupid is overworking this reserved individual.

Upon high school graduation, Nan took work in the summer term at Elizabethtown College. After completion she guided "Young America" successfully for several years. The next year she changed from school teaching to a course in business and office training. Her neatness and systematic tendency made office work most pleasant for Nan. This year she returned to Elizabethtown College and expects to finish her A.B. course with this class.

Nan is one of those substantial individuals who gives the best kind of moral support. In every class function, school party or athletic meet, we find her there ready to give us her time and energy. We know that she is very adaptable, because of her ability to adjust herself to being gay, sympathetic, or serious, as the occasion demands. If this brief introduction to Nan has not made you feel as though you should like to know and love her, we have failed in introducing her. The class has been very much enriched by her presence and cooperation.

Activities: Etonian Staff.

MARGARET H. HAVERSTICK
New Holland, Pa.

FRANCES MARY HERSHMAN
37 S. Hanover St., Elizabethtown, Pa.

Quiet and reserved, "Peggy" is a delightful asset to any company, with her wit and humor. Many people claim her as a friend. And now, this slim, dark-haired girl is very much interested in a blond gentleman from the Freshman Class. He, too has succumbed to that well-known smile.

Margaret is a reporter for the "Times" and dashes hither and thither for news, bits of interest. She is also active in Student Council and the "Y".

E'town may be proud of her. As a student, not a better can be found. In that black head are thoughts and thoughts. When she speaks it counts. At languages she's a whiz; Latin, French and Spanish are her specialities.

"Peggy" is a member of that jolly four-some, seen together almost always on and off the campus.

Teaching is her chosen profession. Just what field, we are not certain. It is almost sure to be a language. No matter what it is, "Peg" will be successful. The most cordial wishes for happiness go with this New Holland miss, from the class of '32.

Activities: French Club (2) (3); Student Council (3); College Times Staff (3); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3); Etonian Staff.

Glance at the following activities and would you but doubt that Providence has blessed this amiable girl for she has both charm and merit. She joined the class of '32 with honors and has not changed her high scholastic standard or attainment. Ever do we see her unselfishness, a willingness to help others succeed. In her, the commercial department has found a capable assistant teacher. She has already done some practice teaching in the Hershey high school this year. It is very easy to keep Frances interested in activities on the Hill during the week, but it is my guess that "practice" in some profession draws her to Carlisle many week-ends. Somehow it is just that innate tendency to succeed.

Her ability in public speaking is distinguished. She has had considerable experience in debating in high school and in college. Her alert mind, rapid retort is indispensable to any good co-ed debate on our Hill. In choral organizations again we find her versatility. She has rendered faithful service in the Glee Club, Chorus, and quartets ever since her Freshman year, and a loyal supporter of all activities on college hill. In Frances we present a friend, a teacher, a thinker, an orator—the girl you have been looking for.

Activities: Quartette (1) (2) (3); Debate (1) (2) (3); Secretary-Treasurer of Debating Association (3); Secretary-Treasurer of Glee Club (2) (3); Chorus (1); College Times Staff (1) (2) (3); Etonian Staff; Shorthand Assistant (3); Vice-President of Student Government (3); Press Club (3); Y. W. C. A. Program Committee.

ROBERT HOUSER
Middletown, Pa.

"Pep" is the best characteristic word for this vivacious collegian from Middletown. Ever since our freshman year, Bob has done much to encourage a collegiate spirit on College Hill. This year he organized an orchestra on our campus. Bob has had some experience in musical organization, having played for a number of years in the town band. To put his activity to further use, we learned from his companions of Middletown that he has taken many leading roles in plays—his dramatic ability having been shown and appreciated there. Because of daily commuting, he is unable to participate in the extra-curricular activities on the hill. However, the boy day-students' room is not complete without Bob. He seems to be master of revels and ceremonies there, for he knows how to put freshmen in their places.

Bob is one of the new school; the modern school. He believes that while attending college one should go to classes now and then and incidentally study a book or two. Not everyone can follow this theory and be able to contribute to class discussions. We can say that Bob is always ready to give a contribution in the classroom. He reads many current periodicals and keeps us posted on the events of the day, especially in his field—that of science. Life, for him, presents possibilities of an actor or a scientist of research after the sheepskin is safely tucked away in a trunk.

MAE HUFF
673 Broadway St., Hanover, Pa.

In our freshman year we learned to know Mae very well for she lived among us in the dorm. For the past two years she has been a day-student. But it is apparent to all that her artistic sense or appreciation is highly developed. She is one of the well-dressed girls of our class, always tres chic! She is precise, neat and consistent.

It is in athletics that we find Mae's ambition. Her ardent zest for a place on the basketball team has led her on to the realization of that desire. She shows remarkable dexterity, plays with clear insight and great energy. We hope that she will return next year to lead our team on to victory. Then too, the class feels proud to claim her as a member because of the honor she enjoys in that she is a member of the Athletic Council. The council, representative of faculty and students, oversees the general plans of athletics at Elizabethtown College. It is a responsible position and we think the council has chosen an adequate member.

We know that Mae is quite popular in social circles, although her interests do lie in other colleges. She has served as chairlady of the social committee in her freshman year. We are certain Mae will succeed in her chosen field. The class heartily wishes you the best of life.

Activities: Athletic Council (3); Etonian Staff; Varsity Basketball (1) (2) (3); Chairman of Social Committee (1).

J. MARLIN KAYLOR
Elizabethtown, Pa.

RAY A. KURTZ
Richland, Pa.

"What do you think of that?" "That's where you're wrong."

It is the above phraseology, together with a hearty laugh that heralds Kaylor's presence among a group of students who may be philosophizing about the "weather" or some other timely subject.

Kaylor is an adopted member of the class of '32; having cast his original application for a seat with the assembly of Elizabethtown College Freshman in 1927. After two years of experience in College, he believed it advisable to verify the admonitions and theories of his advisors, and thus was admitted into the business world as a member of the Armstrong clerical forces where he proved his presence indispensable.

The personality of this young man has fitted him into an adjustable cog in the advertising machinery of the Etonian Staff where he is an active worker.

In athletics, Kaylor's popularity and ability find expression in terms of "Net", "Racket", and "Back-Hand." His ability as a Net man has placed him with the Elizabethtown professionals for several successive years. As a member of the College Tennis team, he is winning much praise and popularity.

May your destiny spell success is the wish of the class of '32.

Activities: Varsity Tennis (3); Etonian Staff.

In our Freshman year, we knew Kurtz as a quiet, demure intelligentsia. The Sophomore year convinced us that he was not pedantic, for he took interest and participation on the bill. But in the Junior year, we find him the man of the hour, as editor of the Etonian. His vocabulary, his originality, and his perseverance have made him deserve the Etonian work. Combined with this work, he is always abundantly supplied with "light," after having midnight electricity.

Debating is considered a most valuable extra curricular activity by one who is so logical in thinking. His rebuttals are convincing to opponents, judges, and audience. His subtle wit is almost indispensable.

The Volunteer group has taken much of his time. Kurtz was often appointed to accompany deputation teams and congregations have greatly appreciated his inspiring talks, and predict for him a brilliant future in the ministry. In Kurtz, we have found a gentleman of high ideals, and one who is in search of truth and knowledge. May fate continue to shine upon you, Ray.

Activities: Volunteers (1) (2) (3); Debating (2) (3); Assistant Manager of Debating (3); Vice-President Y. M. C. A. (3); Candles (3); Editor of Etonian; Science Club (3); Sock and Buskin (3).

HELEN R. LANDIS
Rheems, Pa.

JAMES EDWARD LAUER
Hooversville, Pa.

Helen's quiet and demure manner has won for her many friends. But there remains a secret to be told—she has a dual personality. She tries her best to make us believe that she is quiet and serious, but we have some "inside information" about her which tells that she is really full of fun and mischief. She is always the life and spirit of the crowd; just ask any of the day-students. She is a jolly good sport and is always ready for social functions of any sort, whether parties or athletics. Her loyalty and unswerving devotion to her class is without end.

Helen is very popular with her schoolmates, but we hear little about her because she is a day-student. Even when she is here, she is so studious she spends most of her time in the library. Her interests are concentrated largely in the field of English.

Helen, we hope that your industry may bring you just rewards.

Did you hear those folks laugh? Of course it is quite easy to understand, just why they are so gay. Wherever Jimmie goes laughter goes too. He is one of the happy, care-free, fun-loving members of our class, who is always spreading a smile and a grin with his witticisms.

Jimmie is enthusiastic about science. He is one of the vertebra forming the backbone of the Science Club.

Basketball also claims quite a bit of his time. He is noted for his long shots.

Jimmie is quite popular among the ladies. He hasn't been partial to any particular one, not because he can't find one, but because there are so many from which to choose.

Jim is noted for his versatility. No subject is completely discussed without his aid.

The class of '32 join hands and voices in wishing Jim a brilliant future.

HOMER MILLER
Royalton, Pa.

VANCE RANK
Middletown, Pa.

A. B., Liberal Arts

This quiet, dignified gentleman comes to our campus three days a week. He is a man of capacity—preaches and administers to his congregation and at the same time spends part of his busy life with us here at E. C.

Because of his full life, busy with the double round of duties we haven't learned to know Rev. Miller quite as well as if he had spent all his time here. But we do know that he is pleasant and conversational.

We feel sure that Rev. Miller's congregation should be proud of him as a real minister.

He seems very fond of German. Whenever a bit of time is available he will be seen perusing his German book.

When Rev. Miller arrived last fall he was classified as a Junior of E. C. We were indeed quite proud to receive him in our class, but we little realized his capacity for work. Through extra work, this gentleman stepped out of the Class of '32 into the Senior class. Consequently he will graduate at the end of this year.

One sees this Junior from morning until late afternoon during the five school days. That is he belongs to the ever active day student club or organization. Because of this fact his activities on the campus seem to be sacrificed for a larger field of activities in his own home town. We understand that his ingenuity is helping him to complete a college course with little or no debt and at the same time permitting him to drive around in a large car, although it is an old model.

There are two qualities which characterize him; the one is his size for he is the pigmy among the fellows, and the other is his brilliancy, which we believe that he does not use to its limit, at least not on college hill. He seems to be classed as an historian, and with his permission we will say that he is a student of English Literature.

One feat that solely belongs to him is his ability to climb the flag pole without fear, and replace the rope that was somehow removed. He is also most active in the day student room where he turns order into turmoil or turmoil into order.

The class unites in wishing him a fuller application of his abilities.

Activities: Etonian Staff.

WILLIAM N. RICHWINE
R. D. 4, Harrisburg, Pa.

Bill, a jovial Junior who hales from the capitol city of the state, is a real level-headed business man as is evidenced by the number of organizations which claim him as treasurer. The Junior class finds in "Bill" a competent and efficient assistant manager of the Etonian, as well as a faithful treasurer.

The proficiency of this young man not only projects into the commercial world, but also into the musical and scientific world. Bill has won the admiration and praise of his friends as a singer. He has enjoyed the honor of showing us the fact that there is music "In the Air" by producing it on the lower clefs of the musical scale. He has been a member of the College Quartet since his Sophomore year.

In the scientific world, "Science of Love and Friendship," Bill has proved equally capable. Bill is one of "Lincoln's close adherents", in that he believes the enmity between the North and South which Lincoln erased should remain extinct for ever.

Bill is preparing for the teaching profession in the commercial field. His personality, we are certain, will advance him far on the road to success in teaching the young Americans.

The class of '32 confers upon him its best wishes.

MARGARET E. RIFE
Middletown, Pa.

Do you hear determined, light, quick steps through the hall? Upon investigation one will find that "Peggy" is dashing either to Commercial Hall or the Library. Her industriousness and consistency in scholastic and secular activities has held our interest. Her perseverance was proved last spring when she received the Marburger prize. When we see her with Helen, immediately, we know that a stack of books rest in their arms, and that they are on their way to the day-student room where they will lay down their burden (?), take up a pencil, and start to figure on some mathematical problem. Within a short time these two mathematical sharks have completed the work.

Thus far, one would think "Peggy" thoroughly pedantic. The gods have blessed her with more than one virtue. She is a day-student and does not have opportunity to engage in active social functions at school, but we know that she is busily engaged in social activities in her home town. She is a loyal supporter of our basketball teams, also loyal to the day-students—par excellence! Her sincere smile, sweet disposition, willingness to help a fellow-student, dependability, assiduousness have won our hearts. The class of '32 is proud to claim this taciturn and desirable lassie of Middletown.

Activities: Etonian Staff; Press Club (2).

MARGARET M. SCHAEFER
234 E. Etnaus St., Middletown, Pa.

Peggy is one of our most promising students who has graced our class with her presence since 1928. It is the hope of all her friends that she will continue with us until we launch our ship out into the unexplored sea of life.

With a "cheerio" she greets everyone who comes her way. Peg is sincere and industrious; possesses unusual grace, poise, and vivacity. She takes great delight in dramatics, poetry and language. The French Club elected her as their president and she is an active member of the Dramatic Club. With honest endeavor and with great zeal she does whatever task comes her way. That she is satisfied with nothing less than the best is shown by her high scholastic attainments.

We all know she will be a great success in the teaching profession for her winning personality will do much to make her pupils all love her. Sweet vivacity, original wit, impulsiveness, and rare talents go to make up this brown-eyed girl from Middletown.

Activities: French Club (2) (3); Etonian Staff; Press Club (2); Sock and Buskin (3).

E. FLOY SCHLOSSER
346 Orange St., Elizabethtown, Pa.

This fair and cheerful young lady is one of the popular members of our class. She has a charming personality and is capable of adapting herself as the occasion demands. "Be a friend" seems to be Floy's motto. She is gentle and kind and is always ready to lend a hand—a person who makes life easier to live. Her clever wit and keen sense of humor afford jolly entertainment for those around her.

Floy is to be admired for her achievements in debating, dramatics, and music ability, both vocal and instrumental. Her ability as a debater is excellent. In dramatics, she is a genius. The Dramatic Club has chosen her as its president. Her musical talent is not to be disputed. The gentle play of her white fingers on the ivory keys fills the air with music. Her clear, sweet, melodious voice certainly "hath charm to sooth" and drive away dull care.

In social affairs, Floy is quite active and is indispensable in helping to plan a successful social or class party.

To you, dear friend and classmate, the class of '32 extends its best and most sincere wishes for a happy and successful career.

Activities: Secretary of Class (1) (3); Glee Club (1) (2) (3); Ladies' Quartet (1) (2) (3); Debating (2) (3); Etonian Staff (3); Chairman of Class Social Committee (2) (3); Sock and Buskin (3).

IRA S. SHEARER
Dillsburg, Pa.

HARRY G. SHONK
Elizabethtown, Pa.

Cast your optic nerve upon this splendid looking gentleman, who has been voted the best looking fellow on the campus. We as a class are glad to welcome him into our fold which he joined at the end of the second semester. We hope that he will find this the best class of all, and we know that we already have his hearty cooperation.

A brief glance at his activities is a partial index of his ability, for he is dependable, persistent, and always willing to assist no matter what the task. He is the kind of fellow that makes a good impression and then improves it. He is one of the best liked fellows on the dorm, due largely to his friendly disposition and smile.

Ira is not only a good student, but he has also proven himself to be a successful rural school teacher. With this background and his perseverance, we are confident that he will be successful in his larger field of teaching. He is also the man of the campus admired by all and liked by all.

We, the Junior class, wish success and happiness to our own classmate.

Activities: Secretary Y. M. C. A. (2); Student Council (1); Assistant Athletic Manager (2) (3); Candles (2) (3); College Times Staff (3); Vice-President Sophomore Class (2); Science Club (3).

"Shonkie", our Business Manager, claims as his own a non-conventional past, a unique present, and a promising future.

Shonk joined the ranks of college students a year in priority to his classmates. During his first in-road upon a college education which lasted for two consecutive years, Shonk acquired much popularity and a lasting friendship with one of the opposite sex. A continuance of this friendship requires frequent trips to southern Lancaster county.

After two years of life as a commutant, Shonk decided that a large "bite" requires considerable mastication. He, thus, enlisted into the Great Army of business men as a clerk in the Lancaster Cork Company where his presence was greatly appreciated. At the expiration of a year's experience Shonkie decided to cast his lot with college men once more.

Shonk joined our ranks as Business Manager of the Etonian, showing much ability in practical executive work. In addition to his claims at school he is the sole-proprietor of an auto repair establishment on the outskirts of town where "inflated tires are flattened." and "replaced parts are broken."

Shonk's amiability and business ability coupled with a "personality that wins" predict for him a bright future.

The class of '32 wishes this young man the best of success and hopes that as he meets opportunities he will make them all realities.

Activities: Business Manager of Etonian; Candles (2) (3); College Times Staff (2).

VIRGINIA M. SMITH
Rockton, Pa.

JOHN L. SMOKER
R. D. 1, Lancaster, Pa.

If weight were to conform to the old adage "laugh and grow fat" we should expect to see "Giny" increase in stature. For she always has time to enjoy fun. Her spiritual nature cannot help but influence those about her. Always is she encouraging, welcoming, or boosting some one on. Combined with this animated person is a heart of gold. She thoroughly enjoys to help someone, and has done much to develop her unselfish spirit.

"Giny's" interests lie in the field of commerce and finance, especially finance. She has had ample opportunity in her own home to prove to the town-folks that she is capable of running and managing a department store. We predict for "Giny" a brilliant business career, for she is shrewd and diplomatic in her work.

As a supporter of the Y. W. C. A., we want to congratulate the work done by her in that organization. Her office in the Y. W. C. A. has been filled in a very efficient and commendable way. Everyone is glad that "Giny" will return next year and after graduation we anticipate a successful business career. That is our sincere wish.

Activities: Chorus (1) (2); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Etonian Staff.

If it is activity that brings success, we are sure that this classmate of ours will be successful without a doubt for he is one of the busiest men on the campus. His interests are divided into three productive channels. First, he carries a rather heavy college course, second, he is a full time pastor of three churches, and third he makes frequent trips down the country, which we now know has brought for him man's greatest hope, that is a wife. We all unite in congratulating our classmate, and hope that his married life may be happy and prosperous.

John spent two years at the dorm and won a reputation of being kind-hearted and yet strong in his convictions. Frequent reports of his parishioners strengthen our admiration of his staunch character and friendly disposition, so valuable to the success of a minister.

As he expects to continue in his chosen vocation, we hope he may have added success, and happiness, and become a great benefactor to his church.

ISABEL VANORMER
McAlisterville, Pa.

O. RICHARD HEISTAND
Elizabethtown, Pa.

"Let's go everybody! The Locomotive Yell!" Yes, that's Van Ormer our cheerleader.

This young damsel with her sparkling eyes and cheeriness graced our class the second semester. Isabel is an ambitious, aggressive someone, always helping to put "something across" be it in the Y. W. C. A. or pep meeting. This carries over into the classroom where she is always willing to contribute her bit to class discussions.

If we were to walk into the gymnasium to witness a basketball game we should find Isabel as one of the cheer leaders. We are very fortunate to have a member of our class so capable of leading her fellow collegians in the cheers for old E. C. At pep meetings she usually takes the lead in teaching songs and yells.

She is good-natured, and full of fun and always around when there are tricks to be played. Ask the Freshmen on Memorial Hall, they should know.

She is also an active member of the Y. W. C. A. and we think probably an associate member of the Y. M. C. A. After graduation she, too, intends to render service in the public schools. We are, indeed, grateful for her service rendered at E. C. and the class joins in a hearty cheer to Van Ormer!

Activities: Cheerleader (1) (2).

If it is feminine admiration that determines a man's status in life, we feel sure that Dick, as he is known, must rank high. He however, is a day student and consequently his activities, social and otherwise, are largely centered in the town. Nevertheless, he is active in the affairs on the hill, by participation in social functions and class athletics.

Dick is a student of economics and social sciences. Anyone attending the same classes as he, will find that he is well versed in social customs and economic theories and facts. He is also a part time employee of a firm in the town and thus he is able to produce all the money necessary for a college education.

His splendid physique, strength of character, and amiable disposition have won for him many friends. He is a reputed dancer. He has also won laurels on the basketball floor and we understand that he has had some military training. As to the vocation he expects to enter we are not sure but we believe that he will be successful in whatever he undertakes.

Dick, the Junior class extends their best wishes of success to you.

THE SOPHOMORES

Sixty-four

Elizabeth Town College

SOPHOMORE CLASS

DATE—Day set for momentous meeting to decree exactly how the Sophomores shall be inscribed upon the annals of E'town College history.

TIME—Later than the appointed hour.

PLACE—Reception Room, Alpha Hall, E'town College.

Lewis Heisey, M. C. (committee member), is lounging on the davenport. Chairman Grosh enters, watch in hand. At sight of the almost empty room, he says, "It's a pity somebody can't be on time once in a while." Heisey draws, "It might be a good idea for the chairman to try it himself once." As Grosh impatiently returns to the door, he retorts, "Your exquisite sarcasm is entirely wasted if you try to use it on me, for I don't appreciate it in the least. Well, here come these girls at last."

The dilatory damsels, Rachel Wengert and May Beahm, enter. Rachel says apologetically, "I'm so sorry, but I was working on my debating speech and couldn't stop before without completely wrecking my train of thought." May chimes in, "I'm awfully sorry, boys, but I hadn't any idea it was so late. How tempus does fugit."

While all are lamenting the absence of the fifth horseman, Ruth Landis, Grosh says energetically, "Well let's start working and not wait for her. She's probably swamped in the mire."

Several voices echo, "Mire? Meyer? There should be a pun there somehow," but are subdued by Grosh's indignant, "Hope so! That's what I meant it to be."

"But puns," Heisey interposes, "won't fill four pages of the Etonian. What are we going to say?"

"We-ell, let's start with Baugher, he's president," suggests Grosh, but adds quickly, "somebody else better tell us what to say about him."

"Be careful, Kenneth," someone warns, "talking slanderously about the president is punishable under the Alien and Sedition Act."

So Grosh explains, "I'm just not in a very good humor toward him. He's always putting me on committees."

Rachel puts in, "Me thinks I hear footsteps. Oh, hello, Ruth."

"Aw, did I miss a lot?" Ruth says regretfully, seeing the wrinkled brows and nibbled pencils. "Not much, only Baugher."

As interest waxes greater, the suggestions and exclamations increase in number, volume, and velocity—"thick and fast they came at last, and more and more"—until the identity of the speakers is lost.

"I could tell you something about him, but he might not appreciate having it in the Etonian."

"Aw, tell us!"

"If we don't get our four pages filled, then I will."

"Well here's John Wezmer on my list. What'll we do with him?"

"His strong point is German and—"

"His weak point is meals."

"Yes, especially those he doesn't like."

"When we do our real write-up we can get in something about that, I guess. Who's next?"

"I have Amy Heisy on my mind. I just had a piece of the most delicious cake of hers."

"Umm! Let's invite her down."

"Seriously speaking, though, she can do plenty of other things. You should see the things she draws. She draws the most realistic little chipmunks and beavers with the cunningest expression on their faces. You can tell what kind of personality every rabbit has."

Sixty-five

The 1932 Etonian

"I haven't got any of my list crossed off yet. Let's dispose of Wilma Sprenkle next. Heisey, tell us what to say."

"Why pick on me?" "Why not?"

"She was a good practice teacher."

"Oh, these other girls want us to say that about them. She is also keeping up the traditional Sprenkle basketball."

"Isn't this about four pages full, don't you think?"

"Four pages? Not four Etonian pages."

"Who'll tell us something about Irene Shuman?"

"She brought back several interests from Ocean Grove."

"In the bank?"

"Well, I guess so; but others more especially."

"I know something about her too, but its my turn to get one marked off the bunch. What about Sherrick?"

"All right, he's next."

"Say—he surely has it all over some folks, doesn't he? How many girls does he transport?"

"All his bus will hold. Figure that up for yourself; I never was any good at remembering figures."

"Is Kathryn Demy the only other Sophomore in that gang?"

"I guess—oh you should see the things she has to use next year. I believe here motto is 'A project a day—er—what, quick, somebody; tell me how to finish.'"

"—Will earn me an A."

"What can we say about Grace Light?"

"That shouldn't be hard. There are a lot of things to say."

"That's just it. She does so many things I don't see how she has time to get any of them done."

"Wouldn't it be awful to have a name like hers that's so easy to make puns on."

"Well, its a long worm that doesn't turn."

"Couldn't a long worm turn as easily as a short one? I don't believe!"

"Aw, well I just meant subtly to convey the idea that she probably won't have that name long enough to be worried by puns."

"Here's a fellow who has changed his name—Owen Groff."

"Did he get married?"

"Did you mean that to be funny—or is it really funny? No, but since there's another Red this year, he's called Skinner. Don't ask me why."

"All right, I appoint you as a committee to investigate the matter, and we'll proceed with Joe Wilson, whose play-pen is the gym."

"Do we have anything about Ruth Davis?"

"No, we don't. She manages the candy-selling at games."

"Surely not. They never come around till my sweet tooth has St. Vitus Dance, and she's rather Earl-y."

"And here's Vere Bishop, who counts time from one spring normal to the next. Is that all right?"

"Yes, cross him off."

"Are we getting them mixed up all right? We don't want all the girls or all the day students or anything like that all together."

"Let's put Genevieve Jeffry in here."

"You know, she really puts soul into her music, doesn't she?"

"She sho' does. Say do you know what her weakness is?"

"Well, it sorta gets her goat to be kidded about being Scotch, doesn't it?"

"No wonder. Some people never know when to quit."

"Let's put Grace Loucks in here now. She minds her own business and paddles her own canoe, doesn't she?"

Sixty-six

Elizabeth Town College

"Yes, you never hear her complaining about—oh, about anything."

"And here's someone else who can paddle her own canoe—Irene Schrack."

"I think she'd be pretty good at getting others to paddle theirs, too."

"And what a restful, homey room she has.—she and Maddline Wolf. What about Madeline?"

Suddenly there comes a knocking at the parlor door. As Grosh disperses the rebels, the conversation flows on. "She sings a good bit."

"Yes, and the teachers can always depend on her to compare our schools with those of Maryland and—oh, was it anybody, Grosh?"

"No—just Fridy." "The thirteenth."

"No; Wayne. Let's dispose of him now." "What'll we say?"

"Oh, about autos or the things he plays—I mean instruments, not games—or—"

"Or his alibis. He's especially resourceful there." "And now Amanda Gish."

"We'll have to say something about her basketball playing. She's captain, isn't she?"

"Yes, and the way she puts the ball through that basket!"

"And leave out all the rest of us! Skeeter, what about Grace Kimmel?"

"Once more, I ask you, why pick on me?"

And his brother committeeman says, as the girls confer together, "I believe they're hatching up something."

But this is denied—"No, we decided not to say that. Let's go on to someone else—Walter Harlacker."

"Do you think he's found a lady-love to succeed for or something? He's establishing a name for himself around here."

"We didn't have many masculine practice teachers, but I guess they were more quality than quantity. Here's another one—Earl Keeny, who comes from Berks over."

"And Harry Ebling who loved public school music."

"It's my turn to get one off my list. Let's take Martha Bucher."

"She has an ability that I surely would like to possess—the happy faculty of looking attentive while she's plotting all kinds of mischief."

"She uses her brain for plenty of other things too, but tempus is fugiting still, so we must pass on to Mae Eshelman."

"Whoever's name is Eshelman its safe to say has a Buick."

"And she knows how to get her money's worth out of hers, all right."

"But Grace Hollinger uses her Ford to just about as much advantage. She surely gets a lot accomplished."

"She certainly does—committees and everything like that and her private hobbies and all kinds of things."

"And Absolam Leinart's another efficient fellow. I bet he'll distinguish himself some day teaching school, or maybe as an orator."

And once more—"Isn't this four pages yet?"

"The rest of the four pages could be filled with the pranks of Kathryn Brubaker, for once there was a little kitty who was very mischievous, but we can't omit Vivian Groff, on her way to fame as an artist; Marie Young, from "the Sunny Southland, where the trees are green" and girls are not; or Edna Ott, our already-proven schoolmarm; or Emmert Herr, our Roaming Romeo; or—oh, all the others."

"Remember Daniel Scott' 'getting through on the green light' speech?"

"Um-hm. Quite appropriate for an auto-commuter. You don't wonder why he's a successful preacher when you've heard a chapel talk of his, do you?"

"I hope I don't have a one-track mind, but those four pages worry me. We have a lot more folks yet. What about Helen Klein next?"

"Sure with Roaming Romeo fresh in my mind, I'd call her a Jumping Juliet."

"Here, I still have Homer Reber on my list."

Sixty-seven

The 1932 Fonian

"He's the chap with a quotation for everything—but not every quotation in its place."

"I guess he learned that from his Webster-ish roommate of last year."

And Grosh mercilessly hums, "Among My Souvenirs."

And what can Ruth do but say, "Quick, tell me something about Marie Grove, I'm getting hungry."

"I know she has to have all the nerve she can muster to stay in the office after she's heard all kinds of noises in the evening."

"That doesn't seem to worry her much. What about Ferne Weaver?"

"She's a mainstay when it comes to giving volunteer talks."

"And she does a good bit of committee work."

"And Esther Bucher? She's Y. W. C. A. secretary."

"She's always cheerful and ready to lend a hand to help anyone."

"That's the way to go after the job. They're getting checked off in short order now." "Now for Kathryn Holsinger."

"Don't you envy her—having all her meals at Aunt Sallie's."

"And mind you, she's been singing with a quartet ever since she was in the eighth grade."

"We have a new member, Cora Gehman, you know."

"Gertrude Minninger's another one from that hall, too."

"She'll be a professional bell-ringer some day. How she does hate that sixty-thirty bell!"

Here's Earl Weller, who should have been born in Spain; Dorothy Lefever, our tree enthusiast; Marie Raber, the pep of Memorial Hall; Alta Weaver, the songbird with a smile in all kinds of weather; "Harry Gerlach—I believe he's our longest distance commuter; and—" "Bill Kehm's a Sophomore, isn't he?"

"We don't need to prove anything about Esther Markley. Everybody knows she has It."

"Yes sir. 'Vim, vigor, and vitality'—that's Esther."

"What about ourselves? Are we going to allow ourselves to pass into oblivion?"

"No, never! That wouldn't be fair to posterity!"

"Then let's start off with Chairman Grosh. Let's see—oh, yes, he's looking forward to his first sermon."

"Oh, no. I'll probably turn out to be a politician or something. But I don't think we better waste time on ourselves. Let's settle Laverne Lovelass and then Grace Miller."

"Laverne's the girl that breaks the mailman's back."

"And Grace is a tr—oh, I forgot I mustn't say that. She comes from Lititz, doesn't she?" "I think so, and—"

"Humph! I think you're a politician already, you old schemer."

"It's about my turn to get rid of one, Luella Leaman."

"And she just thrives on beauty—oh, poetry or sunsets—you know."

"That reminds me, Ruth Royer's still not settled."

"If I could draw like she can, I wouldn't care whether I were settled or not."

"Oh, I think she's settled, all right, but we aren't settled about her."

"We can get something from that for the write-up, I think. Helen Heisey?"

"Her strong point is languages—Latin, Spanish, French, or what have you?"

"And Ammon Meyer? Well, Ruth?"

"Now it's my turn to ask why pick on me."

"Of course we can't expect her to say this, but we couldn't get along without Meyer. He's another one that's always there to lend a hand."

"Here are Betty Hershey and Grace Shoemaker to end up with?"

"Betty's dimples!" "Grace's sweet voice." "This must be four pages."

ALUMNI GIFTS

Elizabethtown College is proud of her Alumni and rightly so. The Alumni Association has always shown a keen interest in the College. Its spirit has been one of true loyalty. It has done and is still doing all it can to make our College bigger and better. When financial crises arise the Alumni are ready to dig deep into their pockets to make contributions. We can only appreciate this fact to the fullest extent when we look about our campus and see the gifts that stand as monuments to Our Alumni. They show in a measure the appreciation of the Alumni for their Alma Mater.

THE ATHLETIC FIELD—Elizabethtown College early realized the need of an athletic field. Immediately the Alumni Association came to the rescue and purchased a tract of land. Later another tract of land was also purchased by the Alumni. Tennis courts were made, a baseball diamond, and a running track. The enjoyment the students get from this athletic field is well worth the efforts of those who fulfilled the need.

LAKE PLACIDA—Some years ago the Alumni Association purchased an adjoining tract of land containing a stream of pure water. They realized that this would add to the beauty of our campus. The student body built a wall across a ravine and formed a lake of over three acres. Boats were then purchased and the students spent many happy hours on the lake. In winter when the lake is covered with ice, students spend their time skating and getting healthful exercise. Lake Placida is a beautiful place. It is often used for vesper services.

THE GYMNASIUM—When the Alumni Association of Elizabethtown College erected our substantial and beautiful gymnasium our dream of years came true. This is a much used building. A thousand people can be comfortably seated on the main floor and balcony. A great need was filled when this building was erected. We appreciate it! We are proud of it!

ACTIVITIES

E ' T O W N

In a little secluded corner,
In the beautiful garden of life
Are planted some lovely roses
And lilies of pure white.

The radiant eastern light
Tells of the birth of a new born day,
And each little rose and lily
Is turned toward the giver of life.

So in the little college at E'town
Are found some roses and lilies fair
Who turn to there professors
For true intellectual care.

Those who pass by the garden
And admire the flowers there,
Pass on and somehow are happier
Because of the pure fragrant air.

Let each man and woman of E'town
Live sweet and pure as the Flowers
So when their fellow men pass
They may sense the pure Christian air.

THE BULLETIN

The Bulletin is published quarterly by the college and includes the Summer Term Bulletin, the College Bulletin, the Alumni Bulletin, and the reports of the President, the Dean and the Treasurer of the college.

The Summer Bulletin includes a list of faculty members for the summer and a description of the curriculum and courses of instruction offered during this session of the school year.

The College Bulletin includes a complete catalogue of all important facts in reference to the main term of the school year. Beside giving the calendar for the important events of the following year and the names and qualifications of faculty members, it gives in detail the outline and description of courses in education, liberal arts, science, economics and commercial education. Such student interests as debating, contests, student associations and student volunteers are discussed. A complete register of students of the previous year is given. The students are listed under several heads, namely: regular college students, special college students, those taking voice, piano, and extension work, and those in summer term, in spring normal term, and in Bible extension work. The college has the power to confer the following degrees: Bachelor of Arts in Education, Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts, Bachelor of Science in pure Science, Bachelor of Science in Economics, and Bachelor of Science in Commercial Education.

The Alumni Register includes items of interest to alumni. It gives the names, present occupations, and present addresses of graduates of the institutions.

The Bible Institute Bulletin outlines the program for the week of the Bible Institute held during the second week of January of each year. In it are given the aims and purposes of the college in putting on a week of Bible instruction.

PROFESSOR E. G. MEYER	Director
MRS. E. G. MEYER	Pianist

In the beginning of the first semester the glee club began working on a program whose theme centered around the seasons. It was the purpose of this unique scheme to have others feel with us, the thoughts and delights of spring, summer, autumn and winter, mingled with melody and harmony.

This organization will be remembered this year for the program given before the Christmas vacation. Usually a Christmas cantata is given by the combined glee clubs; however, this year both the men's and ladies' glee clubs combined part of their regular programs and as a result we had a delightful evening of entertainment. The glee clubs (with a number of guest soloists) sponsored the Christmas caroling. This group served a number of times in the chapel period. It is the ambition of the club to give several programs in adjacent communities. In connection with the men's glee club the rendition of the "Legend of Don Munio," a secular cantata, closed the musical productions of the year.

Above is the picture of a group of young men who openly and publicly accepted, "The Challenge of the Closed Door."

Many doors lie before us that do not voluntarily swing open to us. Intensive effort is required to cause the door to swing. Especially is this true of the gateway to the field of fine arts. To attain unto them requires real gold-digging. After trying to carve an ordinary rock into a beautiful form, after trying to picture a beautiful sunset on a sheet of paper by means of a brush and a few primary colors, after trying to compose and set to music a song of originality, then, and not until then will we appreciate the masterpieces of art.

A recognition of the vast world of fine arts that they were not able to enjoy, that lay beyond their scope of appreciation, inspired these young men to join the club. The music was selected by the director with this ideal in view.

Laboriously but gladly did the members of the Glee Club strive toward this goal. After being coached by their leader, they appeared on several programs on college hill. A tour to the southern end of the county and there rendering a program was an added adventure to the work. As a climax for the year's work, The "Legend of Don Munio" was presented in conjunction with the Ladies' Glee Club.

THE MELICENT QUARTETTE

FLOY SCHLOSSER, '32	First Soprano
GRACE LIGHT, '33	Second Soprano
KATHRYN HOLSINGER, '33	First Alto
FRANCES HERSHMAN, '32	Second Alto

The members of this quartette have greatly enjoyed their work in the harmonizing of their voices and in the rendering of their many programs. Cooperation and harmony was the keynote of the group. The group has gone to quite a number of churches with exquisite selections based on the life of Christ. They aimed to portray the plan of Salvation in song. The program was divided into eight sections: Worship and Adoration, Nativity, Jesus' Love and Care, His Suffering and Death, Resurrection, Joy of Salvation, Fellowship with Jesus, and Evening Prayer.

The Melicent Quartette has always been eager to fulfill calls and has participated in many programs. They have gone to Mechanicsburg, Boiling Springs, Lancaster, Shippensburg and Washington, D. C. A tour was made to Western Pennsylvania, during which programs were rendered in and about Johnstown while most of the work has been done in the field of sacred music. The girls have also rendered selections at the York County Alumni Banquet, in chapel, and for the Business and Professional Women's Club in Elizabethtown of a secular nature.

The sheer joy of harmony, and the delights which music in its purest sense can give to the singer and the audience was ever present in the life of the Melicent Quartette.

NORMAN DIEHL, '32	Second Tenor
WILLIAM RICHWINE, '32	Second Bass

Someone has said, "Music washes away the dust of the everyday life, enriches the soul and enlighens the heart." No one enjoys a song more than a group of singers. If we really enjoy music, why not share it with others?

The College Male Quartet, organized at the beginning of the term, appeared, not only as a special feature on various local programs, but also, rendered several complete programs in the churches of the Eastern District. By careful selection and arrangement of songs, a program, centered around the "Life of Christ," proved very interesting and reflected the real worth and beauty of a hymn. In conjunction with the Men's Glee Club, several secular programs were also rendered.

Due to a heavy program of studies and other activities, Mr. Rosenberger was forced to withdraw from the quartet. However, the activity of the group was not retarded, since Mr. Kipp proved an able substitute as first tenor.

THE LEGEND OF DON MUNIO

By the uniting of the Ladies' and Men's Glee Clubs, organized the first semester, thus combining the talent of the college, the annual presentation of a dramatic cantata was made possible.

Previously a versification produced from some biblical story had been chosen. Each of these was successfully presented.

The Legend of Don Munio, a secular cantata, words and music written by Dudley Buck, is a versification made from the "Spanish Papers" of Washington Irving. The characters represented were as follows:

Don Munio de Hinojosa	William Richwine
Donna Maris, his wife	Grace Light
Escobedo, Chaplain of Don Munio	Galen Kilhefner
Abadil, a Moorish Prince	Paul Eshelman
Constanza, his betrothed	Floy Schlosser
Roderigo, a messenger	Aaron Breidenstein
A Chorus of Huntsmen, Retainers and Female Dependents both Spanish and Moorish

SCENE—A border castle.

TIME—The Spanish and Moorish Wars.

The cantata gave a very stirring presentation of an expedition under the leadership of Don Munio advancing into the land of the Moors. Don Munio's Retainers make their appearance from all sides wholly surrounding the band of Moors composed mostly of women who are on their way to a chapel where two lovers, Abadil and Constanza hope to be married. However, since this band of Moors is composed mostly of women, Don Munio decides not to kill them, but takes them captive for fourteen days within his castle walls. During this time Abadil and Constanza are married. After a lapse of time, when the Moorish band has been set free by Don Munio, the Spanish Army, under the leadership of Don Munio, again attacks the Moors. This time they are met by an army of Moors under the leadership of Abadil, the young Moorish Prince whose life Don Munio spared. However, Abadil leads the army forward to an attack resulting in the overwhelming of the Spanish army and the death of Don Munio.

This relates in a few words the story which was so vividly presented in full costume by the joint organizations.

Our instructor, Professor E. G. Meyer, assisted by Mrs. E. G. Meyer, accompanist, and Miss Rebekah Sheaffer, coach of dramatics, surely deserve much credit for this excellent presentation. We feel certain this presentation has made a liberal contribution to a greater E. C.

MRS. LAVINIA WENGER	Faculty Adviser

The Y. W. C. A. has played a very active part in the activities of College Hill. Throughout the year, the "Y" has endeavored to create a religious and social interest in the students of the hill.

Together with the Y. M. C. A., it sponsored the Lyceum Course, which proved very entertaining and interesting. After one of these numbers the two "Y's" held a luncheon which proved to be a success.

Miss Taylor, the traveling secretary of the Y. W. C. A., spent a few days on our campus, offering advice and suggestions for carrying on our work.

During the year additions were made to the "Y" room on Alpha Hall in the way of some new furnishings and new magazines. A room on Memorial Hall was also equipped as a "Y" room for the girls on that hall.

Remembering the less fortunate people, the Y. W. sent baskets of provisions to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas time and also remembered the orphaned kiddies in several orphanages at Christmas time by presenting each one with a gift.

We feel that this has been a successful year for us. We have tried to live up to the purpose for which this organization was established.

We, the members of the Young Women's Christian Association of Elizabethtown College, unite in the desire to realize full and creative lives through a growing knowledge of God. We determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people. In this task we seek to understand Jesus and follow Him.

The Y. M. C. Working individually the organization equipped a room for "Y" meetings and general usage at its mass meetings. It was instrumental in securing men, such as President R. W. Schlosser, Dr. Tibbotts and Dr. J. I. Baugher for lectures on student problems. In connection with the Y. W. C. A. the freshman handbook was published, the Lyceum Course sponsored as well as numerous socials, hikes and entertainments. Religiously, the Y. M. C. A. again in connection with the Y. W. C. A., provided the dinner hall with a gong, provided the leaders for the weekly vesper service in the college chapel, sponsored devotional programs once a month and conducted a Sunday morning watch.

ACTIVITIES OF THE TWO "Y's"

The annual Lyceum Course of the season was sponsored by the two Y Associations of the College. They have been able to present a very splendid course through the numbers given from the Redpath Bureau. The proceeds from the Course are of course divided between the two Associations, which they use in carrying out their various activities on the campus. The Course as given this year is as follows:

November	4	Indian Life, in Verse and Song.
November	14	Dr. H. I. Jones, Scientific Lecture.
December	5	Oakley Concert Company.
January	22	Jack Woods Concert Company, Bellringers.
February	14	Anne Frierson, Negro Life in Poetry and Song.

THE "Y" ORATORICAL CONTEST

Every year the two Y Associations sponsor an oratorical contest on the campus for the benefit of all the students interested in the work of delivering orations. On the evening of March 20 five contestants delivered their orations before a group of three judges who handed out the prizes to the ones whom they thought the best. The following were the contestants and the title of their orations.

"The Rejected Gift"	May Beahm
"A Glorious Sunrise"	Kenneth Grosh
"To-morrow's Success"	Daniel Scott
"The Dashing Napoleon"	John Sloat
"The Lure of Rural America"	Madeline Wolfe

The prizes were granted as follows, ten dollars to Madeline Wolfe, five dollars to Kenneth Grosh, and two and one-half dollars to May Beahm.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

The two Y's sponsor the regular weekly prayer meetings. They have also started to conduct short devotions before breakfast in the Dining room every Sabbath Day morning. Twice a month the Chapel period is in charge of the Y's. The Y's feel that they have added something valuable to the religious atmosphere of the campus. The outgoing cabinets wish to thank the members of the two associations for their support and wish for the new cabinets another banner year in the history of the work of the Christian Associations on the Campus of Elizabethtown College.

One of the most energetic organizations in Elizabethtown College is the Student Volunteer Group. This organization is composed of students who wish to spend their lives in Christian service.

The members have been active in service for they have given a large number of programs throughout the year. These programs were rendered in the various churches of Eastern and Southern Pennsylvania, and included several trips to Maryland and to New York.

Meetings are held bi-weekly with discussion, talks, study, and devotional programs. The group is supporting the work of Sara Shisler on the African field, a project first undertaken last year.

THE BIBLE INSTITUTE

A College in order to serve its highest purpose must be all inclusive in its service. It must not only serve its students, but the entire constituency which supports it. It is with this end in view that the college sets aside one week each school year for the Bible Institute. All the sessions are open to the public, and are so arranged that all may be vitally interested in one or more programs. The Institute is centered around such topics as Missions, Bible Study, Ministerial Training, and Sunday School Teaching.

The Bible Institute opened on the last Sunday night of January and continued throughout the entire week and climaxed in the meeting on Saturday night and then finally closed on Sunday night. The interest taken, the inspiration given, and the fellowship received proved that the institute was a great success and a milestone in the history of E. C.

It is always the purpose of the administration to secure the highest type of speakers on the church and they have not been disappointed this year.

The young people have been led in thought beautifully by Dan West, Director of the Young People's Work in the Church of the Brethren. He, in convincing terms, revealed the attitude of youth to the church, and clearly showed what they need.

Elder C. D. Bonsack, General Missionary Secretary, was also present. He stressed and pictured the Church's greatest task that of Christian Missions.

Another instructor in the Institute was Elder J. A. Robinson, Pastor of the First Church of Altoona, and Secretary of the General Ministerial Board of the Church. He preached each night on a topic of interest to all who were present. During the day he engaged in Biblical instruction and ministerial discussion.

We, all, hope that this part of the College's activities may never be dropped.

THE STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONFERENCE

Over the week end of March 14 and 15 the Volunteers in the Colleges of the Church of the Brethren assembled in a conference on the Campus of this school. There were about sixty present at the regular sessions. The colleges represented were Juniata, Bridgewater, Blue Ridge, and Elizabethtown. Daleville Academy had one representative here also. Among the speakers were Professor H. H. Nye, Elder C. C. Bonsack, Rev. G. L. Wine, and Dean A. C. Baugher. The conference decided to make the conference an annual affair.

For years there has been sentiment in favor of a dramatic club at Elizabethtown College. This sentiment, desire and ambition has materialized this year. From Milton's "L'Allegro" we read:

"If Jonson's learned sock be on or sweetest Shakespeare. Fancy's child"

In his "Il Penseroso" we read:

"Or what—though rare—of later age
Ennoblest hath the buskined stage."

All drama is divided into comedy and tragedy. From the above lines we infer that the sock is symbolic of comedy while the buskin is symbolic of tragedy—hence the name of the dramatic club—Sock and Buskin.

The purpose of this club, as expressed in the constitution, shall be to provide opportunities for those students who wish to further develop the aesthetic side of their nature through the study of life as portrayed by the various dramatists.

In order to know, appreciate and participate on the stage we believe it is necessary to study the stage first-handed. The club en masse was privileged to see Elmer Rice's prize play "Street Scene" in Philadelphia.

Since the dissolution of the Literary Societies and the increase in College specialization, there has been a growing demand of those interested in science for expression through some medium other than the classroom and the laboratory. This desire culminated last fall in a Science Club. A committee from the club in connection with the faculty adviser formulated the constitution which was approved by the faculty and adopted by the club. The purpose of the club is to attempt to clarify our scientific knowledge and to make it more practical. Under the brilliant leadership of the president, the club has been successful and will certainly become a club of the hill. The club meets the second Tuesday night of every month. Subjects of scientific interest are discussed and studied. At the same time there is opportunity for mutual intermingling of those interested in any science.

During the school year 1926-27, several students decided to affect a medium by which college associations and friendships might be perpetuated, both during school life and in after life. They realized that the Alumni Associations and clubs did that to a large extent, but that there was no means by which to perpetuate the more intimate friendships. Prompted by a desire to create such a medium, they formed a club which they named the Candles.

The candle was chosen as an insignia because of its adoption as a unit of measurement of light, for the aim of the Candles was to conduct themselves in such a manner so as to become the unit of measurement of E-town College.

The year 1930 marked the sanctioning of the constitution by the faculty as an Honorary Society. The club was very fortunate in securing the services of President R. W. Schlosser as adviser.

The continuous aim of the Candles is toward the maintenance of the highest standards of E-town College, toward the creation of better school spirit and toward the establishment of the highest ideal in the social life of the students. In its attempt to reach this goal it is striving to live all that its motto implies, "To have friends, be one."

ATHLETICS

COACH KENNETH MATEER

To Coach Mateer, who has so ably trained our athletic teams, who has so nobly attempted to secure a permanent place for the college in inter-collegiate athletics, and who has played such a splendid part in the development of sportsmanship among the members of the athletic teams and the student body, we respectfully dedicate the Athletic division of this year's Etonian.

The success of any activity depends upon the work of the group or council which controls that activity. The athletics of the college are sponsored and managed by the Athletic Council. This council is representative of all those who are supporting the college athletics. The Alumni, who played such a great part in the college's intercollegiate athletics, have one representative. The faculty has two representatives, and the students have two. The athletic coach completes the council. In the past years this council has done much to raise the athletic morale and standing of the college. The work of the council has been admirable in the past year, and we are confident that the council will bring success in the coming years.

There is present on every college campus a certain power, which unifies the individual desires to excell and to win laurels for one's school, which we call school spirit. This spirit is present on this campus. There are two factors that contribute to the support that the student body gives to athletic events through this school spirit. There is the creation of school spirit through yells and songs made possible through the splendid leading of the cheer leaders. Then there is the splendid way in which our captains led our teams into the finest teamwork and sportsmanship.

V A R S I T Y B A S K E T B A L L

The 1930-31 Basketball season closed the third year of official inter-collegiate Basketball for Elizabethtown College. During the season some of the teams of the leading schools of the Eastern College World were met. Among these were Dickinson, Albright, Franklin and Marshall, Susquehanna University, Juniata, Millersville State Teachers' College and West Chester State Teacher's College. Although many times the numerical scores were against us the upholders of the Blue and Gray standards played very commendably.

Captain Crouthamel, '31 played at center, Hackman, '31 and Shields, '34 at guard and Lauer, '32, L. Bucher, '34 and White, '34 at forward. Dieter, '31 and Shipley, '33 were substitutes and very ably filled the necessary positions. Lauer and Lester Bucher were the high scorers of the season scoring 124 and 120 points respectively.

Several games of the season seem to stand out above the rest. One of these is the Susquehanna game when an extra five-minute period was needed to break a 38 to 38 tie. However during this extra period our opponents scored a field goal and won the game by a 40 to 38 score. Good guarding and accurate passing characterized the entire game which closed with a regular whirlwind of passing. Another record game of the season was the Juniata game when we were again defeated by the close score of 32 to 29. In this game E-town soon began sneaking the sphere through the ring and a very evenly matched cage tilt followed. The game with Philadelphia School of Pharmacy was rather slow and cautious throughout and ended in a 35 to 33 victory for our team. The games with Dickinson, Albright, and Franklin and Marshall were some of the hardest-fought games of the season. In these games our boys met the "stiffest" competition of the year.

The following is a schedule of the season with the scores:

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity passed through another season of a splendid showing in Basketball. The games they played were snappy, interesting, and well played. "Red" Groff, the captain, though later on the varsity, showed excellent ability in leading the team. E. Bucher proved himself tall enough for any other center. Wilson and Loren Bucher did most of the scoring for the team. Baugher, Shields, and Groff, and Gerlach played close guarding games. We are confident that these men will be future varsity stars.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Basketball—and everyone who has ever played knows the thrill of the first call to practice. About twenty reported for practice among whom were Gish, Evelyn, and Wilma Sprenkle, Klein, Raber and Woodward of last years squad, also Rohrer a star forward from East Lampeter and Weaver from Manheim. The two latter having played four years in their respective High Schools.

After a number of hard practices the following squad was chosen: Amanda Gish, Captain; Wilma Sprenkle, Mae Huff, and Helen Mae Rohrer as forwards, Jessie Woodward and Evelyn Sprenkle guards, Naomie Weaver and Gertrude Minninger, centers, Marie Raber and Helen Klein side centers.

Vivian Groff, as manager, arranged an interesting schedule of games opening December 10, with Harrisburg Methodist Evangelical Church. We met the opposing team on our own floor and with little difficulty we came out on top. Giving us encouragement for the following games, which, through the cooperation of Coach Mateer, Captain Gish and the individual members of the team we were able to claim four victories out of six. Three cheers to the Girls of old E. C.

VARSITY BASEBALL SQUAD

BASEBALL

The second year of intercollegiate baseball opened with the initial practice on March 2. The first few weeks of practice were in the gymnasium until the weather outside was favorable for outdoor practice. Coach Mateer is hopeful of having a strong team this year since most of the last years team is back and slowly getting into better shape than they were last year. There are several new positions to be filled but there are fellows who the Coach thinks are as capable as the fellows who left the positions vacant, by not being back in school this year.

Even though the number of fellows is limited, yet there is a strong indication that our fellows will be able to win many if not all of the games. The battery this year is very strong with Bill Shipley as catcher and Harry Ebbeling, the Captain, and "Red" White as the pitchers for the team. Crouthamel, Herr, and Wade are preparing to take first base. Deiter and Harlacker are contending for second base. Kehm will undoubtedly be at short stop and Joe Wilson on third base. The outfield will be selected from the following candidates: Shields, Lauer, Diehl, Groff and Bucher.

The tennis season which will formally open May 13 will mark the fourth year of intercollegiate tennis at E'town. In the past years the teams have made excellent showings when considering the material and the teams which they played. We are looking forward to another banner year in tennis. There are several rather good players who will undoubtedly constitute the varsity team. These include Kaylor, Deiter, Crouthamel, and Lauer, with Loren Bucher and Vance Rank as possible substitutes.

FEATURES

THE HELP

Some people are absolutely essential to the organization of every institution. In addition to the students and the faculty at E. C., we have several individuals that are absolutely indispensable. There is "Shorty" Groff, for instance, who calls to the students, "How's your room?" Then there is Toby too, Shorty's right hand man.

Mrs. Keeney, Minnie, Susie and Mattie fill very important positions, for they are the folks who feed us. Mrs. Miller, who cleans our rooms and halls, must not be forgotten.

To these folks a great deal of credit is due, for they help to make Elizabethtown College what it is to-day.

THE CROCK

With all due respect to the various puddle-jumpers, arks and open air chariots on the hill, we particularly raise our hats in awe and respect and even gratitude to the Schlosser crock.

To those who do not know the crock intimately as Kathryn Holsinger does allow us to give you some facts.

No one knows how far the crock has travelled. The register says somewhere around 45,000 miles, but long since has the speedometer ceased functioning. Hardening of the arteries caused a permanent vacation for that part of its anatomy.

It was the crock that helped to make Elizabethtown College for it carried our President over the entire districts of Eastern and Southern Pennsylvania. By the way, it likes its Master's touch and voice the best.

The Crock holds an important place in the memories of many of the students. Particularly in those who went to Phila. to see "Street Scenes". Oh, all the other cars that carried our Dramatic Club were so commonplace and new. But the Crock—at every traffic light whether it showed green or red, caused the crock, to stop for a breath of fresh air.

Then, too, the loud speaker of the crock has been cracked and broken with age. We all know that at one time it must have had a beautiful manly voice.

As to the capacity of the crock, there is absolutely no limit. Even folks from the streets of Phila. have known the hospitality of its already overflowing proportions.

Even tho students and professors may have become disgusted at the crock for its momentary idle periods, it must be remembered that the dear old crock must have its draughts of gasoline just as any modern flapper car.

Then Hail to the Crock.

FOOLISH QUESTIONS

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?
Or a key to the lock of his hair?
Can his eyes be called an academy
Because there are pupils there?
In the crown of his head what gems are found?
Can he use, when shingling the roof of his house,
The nails on the end of his toes?
Can the crook in his elbow be sent to jail?
If so, what did he do?
How does he sharpen his shoulder blades?
I do not know, do you?
Can he sit in the shade of the palm of his hand?
Or beat on the drum of his ear?
Does the calf of his leg eat the corn on his toes?
If so, why not grow corn on his ears?

FROM A DAY STUDENTS
VIEWPOINT

Ting-a-ling our Big Ben, sharply rings,
Calling us from slumber and sweet dreams,
Six o'clock and time to dress for school;
Half asleep we stumble from our beds,
Quickly dress, then clatter down the stairs,
A hasty bit of this, a sip of that,
And now 'tis time to walk or ride to school,
Of course the clocks are slow, the bells already rung.
Five minutes late we dash into our class,
An hour each day we take for lunch and fun.
Sometimes the noise of laughter and of song
Floats through the halls and down the stairs.
At eve the classes start and last till four,
A game or meeting sometimes after school.
Detains us until almost dinner time.
Then home again we ride, walk, run, or skate,
And set Big Ben to call us next A.M.

SEEN AND HEARD IN THE GIRL'S DAY STUDENT ROOM

"Oh, girls, who can give me two dimes for a nickel?"

"I call my razor, little cut-up, because that is a nickname."

Student (at bookstore)—"Give me a map of New York State."

Clerk—"All we have are maps of New Jersey."

Student—"Oh, that's close enough."

"Papa, who was Shylock?"

"Do you mean to tell me that you don't know who Shylock was? What do I send you to Sunday School for? Why don't you read your Bible?"

Wife (to husband listening to radio)—"Do you have any uncles?"

"No, this is Uncle Abe and David?"

ODDITIES

ODDITIES

We'll begin with box; the plural is boxes,
But the plural of ox should be oxen not oxes.
One fowl is a goose, but two are geese,
Yet the plural of mouse should never be meese.
You may find a lone mouse or a whole nest of mice,
But the plural of house is houses, not hice.
If the plural of man is always called men,
Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?
The cow in the plural may be called cows or kine;
But a bow, if repeated, is never called bine.
If you speak of a foot and you show me two feet
And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?
If one is a tooth a whole set is called teeth,
Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?
If the singular's this and the plural is these,
Should the plural of kiss ever be kiese?
Then one would be that, and the two would be those,
Yet a hat in the plural would never be hose.
And the plural of cat is cats, not cose.
We speak of a brother and also brethren,
But though we say mother we never say methern.
Then the masculine pronouns are he, his, and him.
But imagine the feminine: She, shis, and shim.
So the English we all will agree
Is the funniest language you ever did see.

Don't worry if your lot is hard
And if your rewards are few,
Remember that the mighty oak
Was once a nut like YOU.

SOCIAL ITEM

Suburbanite—"Oh, here's a paragraph about us in the paper."

His wife—"Is it really? What does it say?"

Suburbanite—"In the month of January 15,972,364 persons travelled in buses."

"Strikes me queer," said the nail to the hammer.
"Life for me is a perfect bore," said the auger
"I'm a little bored myself," said the plank.
"Regular grind," growled the stone.
The workbench said, "I have only one voice."
"Let's strike," remarked the hammer.

The book salesman knew his job—

"This book," he said, "will do half your work for you."

"Good," was the reply. "I'll take two."

WHAT SOME FOLKS DREAM FOR

A husband, while sleeping on a piece of wedding cake.
A college without any studying.
A date without any interference.
A room without an electric light on Sunday night.
Another Student Volunteer Conference on the hill.
A college without a library.
More popularity.
A sound-proof dormitory.
A place in the dramatic club.
Fewer college regulations.
Frat houses on the campus.
A course in campusology.
A football team on the hill.
More victories in basketball.
A chicken dinner instead of Sour Kraut.

WHAT THE EDITOR WISHED FOR DURING THE YEAR

E very member at staff meeting.

Sandy—"Say mon, when is Annie McTavish goin' to marry you?"

Andy—"It's very uncertain, mon. Someone gave her a big box of letter paper with her name printed on it. She won't get married till it's used up, an' he writes few letters on account of the postage."

BRIGHT SAYING

Little Margaret, who was at the window watching the cars pass, turned excitedly to her mother and said, "Mother, did you hear that car blow his nose?"

CARELESS

Sailor—"They've just dropped the anchor."

Mrs. Symp—"Gracious, I was afraid they would. It's been dangling outside for some time."

AND THE STICKS GET BURNED

"Your school is not a seminary, it's a match factory," said the smart young college man to the girl student.

"You're right," said the girl. "We furnish the heads and get the sticks from the men's colleges."

REAL SYMPATHY

A teacher, trying to impress on her pupils the rightness of kindness to all animals, took them for a walk to bring the lesson home to them. Hearing a scream from little Johnny, she said: "What's the matter, Johnny?"

"I've been sitting on a hornet," was the tearful reply, "and I'm afraid I've hurt the poor thing."

IS IT TRUE THAT?

Two persons can appear as one?
A light cannot shine without a ray?
Students cannot keep quiet in chapel?
The men's student council had a session for seven hours?
All classroom doors in Alpha Hall are open every Sunday night?
The waste can has not fallen from the third floor in Fairview apartments any time this year?
Day students conducted a revival service in the day student room?
Miss Klein commuted at Lebanon Valley College via horse and buggy?
Chapel rarely ever dismissed at ten o'clock?
Amos Hummer sang "Little Mary behind the tree, come out and marry me"?
Ezra Bucher is rarely ever found in his room from six thirty to seven P. M.
The reception room can accommodate only one couple at a time?
Some students have more dates in a week than there are days?
Professor Musick's dog is white?
Harry Saylor would cease to exist without Amos Hummer?
Several students use the library as a parlor from seven to nine each evening?
A certain public speaking student gave a speech on "Love"?
Bill Richwine desires to commute during his senior year?
Deiter drinks three cups of coffee every morning?
The chapel clock has become an antique, "A never ready time piece."?

WE WONDER WHY?

Hackman left the dining room one evening, "Decidedly in favor of the Wets."
Ezra Bucher likes fried ham?
John Smoker left the dormitory?
Pineapples don't grow on cherry trees?
"Shorty" Groff doesn't grow taller?
Some cannot be won?
Pairs are such a popular fruit?
We don't have more formal dinners?
Some people are never satisfied?
Hackman calls his Ford, "Manheim Bound"?

TAKEN FROM THE NOTES THAT PASSED AMONG THE DEBATERS IN THE COURSE OF DEBATES

"Did we do that?" (The critic judge was speaking.)
"Was I sarcastic?"
"I can ruin his home market argument."
"He is stalling for time."
"Oh, Oh, I'm misquoted again."
"Sh. Wait until rebuttal."
"I have those definitions ready for you when you want to use them."
"Carl, don't forget, 'I care not for the stars that shine, I only know that I've got mine'."
"There, he hit your war argument."
"O my, Is he stage struck?"
"I was weak."
"May I butt in?" (Oregon plan.)
"I think they won." (At Juniata.)
"I don't like the looks of the Chairman."
"Goodness knows, I prayed that those judges might use good sense in their judging."
"Well, those fellows aren't giving us anything to rebut."
Then came the opening of the Judge's envelopes and the tension was too great to write notes.

HERE AND THERE

Rosenberger—"Well, our field manager has returned, I see."
"That's Kurtz. You know. Hatfield."

As Louis Hanley was going downtown he saw a candy ad that read, "Hav—er—stick."

Owen Groff rebelled against the statement that Dr. Jones made last fall on our lyceum platform when he said that silk hose were made of saw-dust. It seemed to ruin Brother Groff's sales.

Murray Wagner—"Say Snyder, how do you know where to stop washing your face."

Wagner—"One time there was a man named Ferdinand whose wife was named 'Lizer'. When the baby came they called it Fertilizer."

Hackman—"I'm quite a paintist but I've never orationed."

IN GERMAN

Sloat—Grosseldern—Large parents.

Barbour—Landarzt—(Country doctor). Landscape Gardner.

Bill Richwine reset his vest buttons before going to the party at Professor Myer's home. He said it helped a lot.

At Professor and Mrs. Myer's party to a group of students.

Grace Light—"Why Esther Markley, do you look as severe as that at your pupils?"

Esther—"Yes."

"Grace—"At Papa, too."

Esther—"Oh, no."

Butch—"No, Papa does the looking." (LAUGHTER)

Butch—"Oh well, I mean my Papa." (MORE LAUGHTER.)

Carl (to Naomi, the new waitress)—"Is Jimmy in the kitchen?"

Naomi—"Do you mean the man with the long gray beard?"

Owen Groff's solution for a peculiar taste in the ice cream.

"They scorched it when they froze it."

Mr. Snyder's explanation of the drought. "Everybody voted dry."

Amos Hummer has been known to address himself with "Mr. President" while he, himself was presiding at a Y. M. C. A. meeting.

Mrs. Wenger—"In this period of History we have a conflict between science and religion. Are there any parts of the Bible that in your opinion conflict with science?"

Deiter—"Yes, where Moses made the sun stand still."

Disney (the first week in school)—“Well Professor, how much of this Chemistry book are we supposed to know. I fear I cannot memorize and remember it all.”
A. C. Baugher—“Well, we get rather forgetful when we grow old.”

AT STAFF MEETING

Kurtz—“By the next meeting I hope to be able to bring the dummy with me.”
E. Bucher—“If it isn't ready bring the Freshmen with you.”

Kurtz—“If we want to have a real couple page in the Etonian we will have to get our heads together.”

Hackman (in Public Speaking class)—“Though I give my body to feed the poor and though I give my goods to be burned it profiteth me nothing.”

WHERE THERE'S A BILL THERE'S A WAY

As Lee Rosenberger, Frederick, Kurtz and Bill Richwine were about to eat ice cream they discovered that they had no spoons. Bill spied his slipper horn. The Problem was solved.

Mr. Barbour (in thinking of the old adage)—“Prof. Rose, isn't there an old saying that says ‘too many hands spoil the soup’.”

Professor Wenger—“Some people use bathing as a form of recreation. If you don't believe it, go to some of these watering places.”

Steigleman (in History class)—“One thing I do know about these Jews. When they all get back to Palestine there will be lots of stores for rent.”

May Beahm—“Use a sentence with the word ‘satiat’.”
Wagner—“I say she ate it.”

Wagner—“Yes we were at the farm show but all we saw were the goats and horses.”

Olive Jamieson (thoughtlessly)—“Did you see my Father?”

Minnie Becker to May Beahm—“Poor May, next year you will be out in the cold hard world.”

Olive Jamieson—“Well, I'm glad she won't be in a hot world.”

Caleb Bucher—“Loren, I like those oak trees. They keep their feathers all winter.”

Loren Bucher—“I like those white barked trees. They wear their B.V.D's. all the time.”

Anna Cassel (after hearing a suggestion that the Jr.-Sr. banquet be held on the thirty-first of April)—“On what day is that?”

Some of the fellows looked longingly at Miss Shaeffer's neatly covered car on a cold winter night. In fact the poor thing was in danger of being disrobed. Possibly it was warmer than some of its unfortunate brethren.

WELL SUPPLIED

“Do I take this road to Lancaster?” asked the tourist.
“You needn't,” replied the college student, “they've got one there already.”

DEADLIER THAN THE MALE

"Now can any one tell me what a myth is?" asked the teacher.
A solitary hand was raised, and a voice exclaimed: "Please, miss, it's a female moth."

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

"Are you sure," asked the old woman, "that this century plant will bloom in a hundred years?"
"Positive, ma'am," answered the florist. "If it doesn't bring it right back."

CHEERFUL EITHER WAY

Anxious Old Lady (on river steamer)—"I say, my good man, is this boat going up or down?"
Surly Deckhand—"Well, she's a leaky old tub, ma'am, so I shouldn't wonder if she was going down. Then, again, her bilers aint none too good'n she might go up."

IDENTIFIED

Amateur Actor (as Hamlet)—"There is something rotten in the state of Denmark."

Voice from the gallery—"You're it, old man."

A MARATHON

"Can I catch the Leipzig train?"
"It depends on how fast you can run. It left five minutes ago."

CLIMATIC PROBLEM

A clergyman once attacked Wendell Phillips for causing what he called an unfriendly agitation in one part of the country about an evil that existed in another part. "Why do you not go South and kick up this fuss, and leave the North in peace?" exclaimed the accuser.

Mr. Phillips was not in the least ruffled, but said smilingly, "You are a minister of the gospel, are you not?"

"I am, sir."

"And your calling is saving souls from Hell?"

"Exactly."

"Well, then, why don't you go there."

HER OWN FAULT

Mistress—"I don't want you to have so much company. You have more callers in a day that I have in a week."

Domestic—"Well, Mum, perhaps if you'd try to be a little more agreeable you'd have as many friends as I have."

ESKITOLOGY—FROM HERE AND THERE

"A little igloo now and then
Is relished by the Eskimen.

And think that Peary in straits dire,
Rejoiced to find an Eskiliar.

A little gum drop, this is truth,
Is relished by the Eskitooth.

A little pemmican to chew
Is welcomed by the Eskima.

A little blubber, raw or biled,
Is relished by the Eskichild.

We could keep this up all fall
But fear 'twould make the Eskibawl.

The all of which shows just how hard
The grind is for the Eskibard.

'Tis said two gumdrops and a knife
Would buy a man an Eskiwife."

But poets might detect a gap,
'Tween truth and Peary's Eskimap.

STUDY YOUR OWN FAILURES

Don't be afraid of the word ECONOMY—it's the middle name of every rich man who made his own way.

Most wealthy men learned early in life that a part of their income should be put aside for safekeeping.

Later they found profitable ways to use it.

You will find it advantageous in building a reserve fund here.

WORSE STILL

A clergyman and his wife were receiving a call from a parishioner. The clergyman's small daughter, aged nine, walked up to the visitor, and, gazing intently at her said, "Oh, my, but aren't you homely?"

Her mother, of course, was horrified and sought to undo the mischief as well as she could. "Why, Laura!" she said, "What do you mean?"

Frightened Laura stammered—"I only meant it for a joke."

But the mother pushed disasterously onward—"Well, it would have been a much better joke, if you had said, 'How pretty you are'."

Little Daughter (reading)—“In winter every animal puts on a new coat of fur.”

Father—“Don’t speak so loudly, my pet, Mama is in the next room.”

Cook—“And sez I, ‘I think I’ll find another job’.”

Friend—“What did the Missus say?”

Cook—“She sez ‘Bedad and oi’ll give you twinty-foive dollars when yez lave if yez don’t go’.”

WAITING AT THE CHURCH

A young man lived at a distance from his bride-elect. On the eventful day he set off for the station in good time but being delayed by friends, he missed his train. Then he bethought himself of the telegraph. “Don’t marry till I come,” was the message.

WHAT’S IN A NAME

Lady—“Never heard of the ten commandments, little boy? Good gracious! What is your name?”

Little Boy—“Moses, Mum.”

THE STORK’S UNDERSTANDING

Soph—“Why does a stork stand on one foot?”

Frosh—“I’ll bite, why does he?”

Soph—“If he’d lift the other foot, he’d fall down.”

PLAYED BY POP

First Little Girl—“Do you believe there’s a Devil?”

Second Little Girl—“No, it’s like Santa Claus, it’s your Father.”

Jim Nedrow—“What I want to know is, am I a bass or a baritone?”

Professor Meyer—“No, you are not.”

We are glad to hear that the absent-minded Professor is dead at last. He came home full the other night and mistaking himself for his pants, hung himself on the bedstead.

Bill had a billboard,
Bill also had a board bill,
The board bill Bill had bored Bill,
So that Bill sold the billboard,
To pay his board bill,
So after Bill sold his billboard,
To pay his board bill, the board bill
